What's on your needles and hooks?

I am working on a ripple style afghan for my great nephew to be that is due in late September. I am also going to make the rainbow bear you have on this week's web page. I love making toys and that looks to be a lot of fun. You folks have the most interesting projects and products. Keep up the good work. Love you all. Marsha in West Columbia, South Carolina. Let us know what's on your needles and hooks and we'll include in our next newsletter. Write to editor@caron-connections.com.

SIMPLY SOFT

Warm summer weather means we get the chance to stitch up a few light-weight "lovlies" to throw over our shoulders, creating new combinations and easy new wardrobe possibilities. The Felicita Ruana designed by Darlene Dale, is just one of those pieces. Knit in lightweight bamboo-blend Spa, this easy layering piece is one you'll want to stitch in lots of summery colors.

Crochet-Along with Lizzie

We invite you to join the newest member of the Caron team, Liz Walsh, in a celebration of summer's most cheerful icon, the sunflower. Over the coming weeks on our blog, the NaturallyCaron.com Notebook, Lizzie will post a new step in the creation of this crocheted sunflower and invite you to comment on your progress. Stitched in 4 shades of NaturallyCaron.com Country, the sunflower's first step is live right now; Lizzie plans to post a new step every week.
