If you love to crochet and haven't discovered Doris Chan's design brilliance, then this pattern may be a good place to start. Crocheted in light and lovely Spa, this summer lace tunic, called Avalon, is an eyecatcher, indeed. With a pinwheel motif in the yoke and an open loop detail in the hem and cuffs, Avalon proves how great design can transform a one-color project into something truly amazing.

We're a little bit crazy about knitting sweaters for little ones. Maybe because they are small projects that stitch up quickly, or that they are just so darn adorable. Tumba is no exception. This sweet shawl-collar cardigan features 3 jolly buttons and an easy texture stitch that looks great in Country.
