Today's Granny

Many of us began our crochet lives stitching stacks and stacks of granny squares. Since then, the granny has undergone an exciting makeover, as you can see in Today's Granny Afghan. Crocheted in a high impact palette of great value One Pound yarn, This wonderful project combines two different sizes of granny squares for an updated patchwork effect.

We are delighted that The Vest has made a fashion comeback. Quick to knit, (no sleeves to attach!) and easy to fit (no sleeves to measure!) vests also make great gifts. This week, Kim Guzman brings us the Richmond Vest, a wonderful example of how the vest can add just the right tailored yet handmade touch to your work or weekend wardrobe. Kim chose a rich shade of Country for Richmond, since the yarn's merino wool blend and cabled construction make her textured stitches pop so beautifully.

One of the best things about working with top knit and crochet designers is their expert use of color. Marilyn Losee's August Moon baby blanket is a perfect example. In her crocheted colorblock design, Marilyn creates a soothing interplay of harmonious hues in bamboo-blend Spa. Just a glance at her assembly diagram demonstrates her mastery of how colors work together to create a beautiful heirloom blanket for baby.
