The latest issue of e-zine, Petite Purls is up this week, and nestled amongst all of the adorable knit patterns is one for crocheters! Check out my Wristy Business hand warmers; a great one-ball project for this time of year! This pair is shown on a toddler (my daughter Clover), but I've sized the pattern through Women's. Make some for your tiny tot, then treat yourself to a pair!

Shown in Sheep(ish) color, Chartreuse(ish)

Tulip / Etimo

Tunisian crochet – what stitchers are calling a cross between knitting and crochet – is hot. And because you could pick up as many stitches as you would with knitting, there's no better tool set to use than the Carry T Tunisian (aka Afghan) interchangeable hook set.

Pilot Hat

Can't you just picture this adorable Pilot Hat on your favorite adorable toddler? Knit in two perfectly complimentary shades of Stitch.Rock.Love Sheep(ish), Darlene Dale's design has it all—snug fit, easy chin strap and jaunty stripes. And because it's knit in Sheep(ish), this little head warming essential is soft as can be, and machine washable, too. Make one in each size, because this one is going to be a favorite, even as your little one grows up!
